VALERIE DEVOL

Valerie Devol is a graduate of the University of Oklahoma, where she received a bachelor's degree in business administration. She has an MBA from the University of Missouri, where she also accomplished a JD as well as a LLM in Taxation. She has practiced law for twenty years.

Since 2013, Ms. Devol has been the owner and managing partner of Devol and Associates, a full-service boutique law firm, in Edmond, Oklahoma. Her fields of expertise include business and personal tax law, estate and tax planning, and resolving myriad state and federal tax controversies.

Ms. Devol is also accomplished in tribal, municipal and business development law – for established as well as start-up businesses. She frequently speaks on issues of taxation and government action and is a vibrant contributor to Internal Revenue Service and Small Business Association rule-making efforts affecting business regulations.

In 2022 Valerie was sworn in as the Attorney General of the Seminole Nation of Oklahoma.
